We continue Question of the Day: What is Multi-System Inflammatory Syndrome in Children (MIS-C), and is it connected to COVID-19? (Source: HealthyChildren.Org)

- You may have heard news reports about a possible connection between COVID-19 and a rare but serious health condition in children called Multi-System Inflammatory Syndrome in Children (MIS-C)
- Children with MIS-C have a fever and inflammation in their body that is confirmed by lab tests. While different, the condition shares some of the symptoms of other rare childhood conditions such as Kawasaki Disease.
- to watch this newly recognized syndrome very carefully. Scientists from around the world, including pediatric specialists, are working together to understand MIS-C and how best to diagnose and treat it.
- However, the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) wants to reassure parents that very few children get severely ill from the virus that causes COVID-19. In addition, most diagnosed with MIS-C have recovered after getting medical care.

Marine Corps Air Station Yuma

Effective April 6, 2020 and until further notice the Trusted Traveler Program is cancelled. This is an additional safety measure that #MCASYuma is taking in order to help stop the spread of #COVID19.

What this means is that essential personnel that do not have common access card (CAC) and Department of Defense (DOD) identification cards are not authorized to come aboard the base without going to the Pass and Registration office and obtaining a base access pass. Essential personnel may obtain base access by providing the appropriate paperwork to the Pass and Registration Office during working hours.

ALL VISITORS will be required to provide justification for needing access to the installation and will not be granted access to the base simply because they know someone that has a CAC or DOD identification card who will be sponsoring/escorting them aboard the base.

As of April 6, 2020, sponsoring a visitor aboard MCAS Yuma that does not have a CAC or DOD identification card is strictly prohibited unless approved at the Pass and Registration Office.
